overview

What is the underlying structure and philosophy behind the InterPlay system?

How are the forms and tools organized and presented?

What do they accomplish and create?

What is the ultimate outcome of using InterPlay forms and tools?

How do you determine which form or tool to teach?

These are a few of the questions that will be answered in the InterPlay Leader Training Program. This Program will provide you with skills to effectively lead InterPlay® forms and tools in a variety of settings. It includes presentation, self-study, interaction, play and practice teaching.

You will learn how to create a welcoming and affirming atmosphere, present InterPlay forms and principles clearly, take incremental steps, attend to the energy and pacing of the group, elicit noticings of body data, knowledge, and wisdom, deal with resistance, and take care of yourself emotionally and physically.

InterPlay Leader Training includes:

- a multiple-day retreat called “The Secrets of Leading InterPlay” which will provide an overview of the InterPlay system and how it works
- acquiring and demonstrating a basic understanding of the core set of InterPlay forms and tools in a self-study format
- a multiple-day event called “The InterPlay Teaching Practicum” providing practice teaching opportunities and direct reflection on teaching skills
- mentored teaching where participants lead a number of InterPlay events, receive feedback on their leading, complete self-evaluations and reflect on their experience with an assigned mentor who is an experienced InterPlay leader.

An additional component of Leader Training is to accumulate 50 hours of InterPlay® experience, including at least one “Untensive” (a multiple-day retreat.) These hours are not included in the program tuition. This requirement can be satisfied by experience accumulated before enrolling in the Leader Training Program.

A prerequisite for participating in the InterPlay Leader Training Program is to take the InterPlay Life Practice Program. It is possible to begin the Leader Training Program while you are still in the Life Practice Program.

To become a certified InterPlay leader, one completes both of these Programs and joins the InterPlay Leaders Circle.

Secrets of Leading InterPlay

Secrets of Leading InterPlay is a multi-day workshop that covers the underlying structure and philosophy behind the InterPlay system. How are the forms structured? How do they work together? What is the ultimate outcome or effect of using InterPlay forms? How do you figure out which forms to do at what time? What is the nature of the relationship between leader and participant? How do you deal with people you find challenging? The workshop includes presentation, interaction, and play. Secrets of Leading InterPlay is offered several times a year in various locations around the country.

You must be enrolled in the Leader Training Program in order to attend The Secrets of Leading.

Knowing the InterPlay forms

Participants in the InterPlay Leader Training Program will demonstrate an understanding of and ability to reproduce the steps involved in teaching the core set of InterPlay forms and tools. The only way to get the forms “in your body” is through repetition.

Participants will be responsible for this process assisted by the Core Elements Self-Study workbook that Body Wisdom, Inc. will provide when you enroll in the Leader Training Program. At least 8 of the Self Study core elements are to be completed before attending a Teaching Practicum and 8 more core elements are to be completed before practice teaching begins in the Mentored Teaching component.

The entire Core Elements Self Study is to be completed within 18 months of attending the Teaching Practicum. If this deadline is not met, the leader-in-training must attend another Teaching Practicum.

Who knew that changing the world could be this much fun?

Teaching Practicum

The Teaching Practicum is a multi-day workshop that includes practice teaching with self-evaluation and feedback from leaders and other participants, information on best practices in designing and leading InterPlay events and teaching resources such as sample class outlines. The Teaching Practicum will be offered in different locations at least two times a year.

Mentored Teaching

Leaders-in-training will arrange five practice teaching situations, where they will receive feedback from a participant/observer of their choosing and also complete self-evaluations. Participants will share the feedback and self-evaluations and reflect on their teaching experiences with an assigned mentor who is an experienced InterPlay leader. Three of the events must be at least 20 minutes in length. One must be at least an hour, and one must be at least two hours in length. Any of these events can be a piece of another workshop. For example, you could teach for 20 minutes as part of someone else's class or you could teach for two hours during an Untensive that someone else is leading. The leader-in-training's assigned mentor should be present for either the one-hour or two-hour teaching event. If this is not possible, the videotape of one of those sessions should be supplied to the mentor.

In addition to the five practice teaching situations described above, you will complete an additional 10 hours of InterPlay leading and document that experience by completing a self evaluation form for each event. These forms will also be submitted to your mentor.

The Mentored Teaching component is to be completed within 18 months of having completed the Teaching Practicum. If this deadline is not met, the leader-in-training must attend another Teaching Practicum.
